

THE POWER SYSTEMS COMMITTEE
OF THE AMERICAN ROCKET SOCIETY
(Predecessor of American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics)

September 1962

- Nathan W. Snyder, Chairman
Royal Research Corporation, Hayward, Calif.
- William G. Alexander
U. S. Air Force, Washington, D. C.
- G. M. Anderson
U. S. Atomic Energy Commission, Germantown, Md.
- William R. Cherry
NASA Headquarters, Washington, D. C.
- Ernst M. Cohn
NASA Headquarters, Washington, D. C.
- Murray Coombs
Atomics International, Canoga Park, Calif.
- Walter Deacon
Vickers Incorporated, Torrance, Calif.
- A. Stuart Denholm
Goodrich-High Voltage Astronautics, Inc., Burlington, Mass.
- Paul Egli
Naval Research Laboratory, Washington, D. C.
- Robert E. English
NASA Lewis Research Center, Cleveland, Ohio
- Eric T. B. Gross
Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, Troy, N. Y.
- Robert Hamilton
Institute for Defense Analyses, Washington, D. C.
- Douglas Harvey
Martin Company, Baltimore, Md.
- Robert E. Henderson
General Motors Corporation, Indianapolis, Ind.
- William W. Hoover
Air Force Space Systems Division, Los Angeles, Calif.

John H. Huth
Advanced Research Projects Agency, Washington, D. C.

Douglas Kerr
General Electric Company, Valley Forge, Pa.

Victor Kovacik
Thompson Ramo Wooldridge Inc. , Cleveland, Ohio

Joseph Neustein
Electro-Optical Systems, Inc. , Pasadena, Calif.

Louis Perry
General Atomic, San Diego, Calif.

William H. Podolny
United Aircraft Corporation, East Hartford, Conn.

Paul Rappaport
Radio Corporation of America, Princeton, N. J.

Irwin M. Schulman
General Electric Company, Valley Forge, Pa.

Walter C. Scott
NASA Headquarters, Washington, D. C.

George Szego
Institute for Defense Analyses, Washington, D. C.

Upton B. Thomas
Bell Telephone Laboratories, Inc. , Murray Hill, N. J.